Trail Guide

to the

Bolsa Chica Ecological Reserve

The Bolsa Chica Ecological Reserve is located in the northwest corner of Orange County, California, and encompasses a total of 1200 acres of wetlands and 118 acres of upland habitat. The reserve is home to a wide variety of plants, insects, reptiles, mammals, fish, raptors and other bird species, many of which are threatened or endangered. For this reason we ask that while you enjoy the reserve, please abide by all regulations posted at the entrances and at various points throughout the ecological reserve's approx. five-mile trail system.

Group tours of the reserve and educational programs for K-12 students are available and can be arranged by calling the Bolsa Chica Conservancy at (714) 846-1114. The Conservancy also has many volunteer opportunities for youth groups and those who would like to participate in the restoration and maintenance of one of Southern California's largest wetlands. High school and college students seeking to acquire community service hours are also welcome, and activities are tailored to meet the age, skill levels, and needs of the participants.

Come join us and be part of the Bolsa Chica experience —
